Non-farm payrolls for May climbed by 69,000, less than the street estimate for a 150,000 advance and the unemployment rate unexpectedly increased to 8.2% from 8.1%. Manufacturing data added to the negative tone as growth slowed across the globe. The ISM factory index fell to 53.5 in May and manufacturing in the euro zone dropped to a three-year low while China experienced its weakest production growth since December of last year. As a result, all sectors were in negative territory, led by losses in financials as Bank of America was down 33 cents to $7.02, JPMorgan lost $1.22 to $31.93 and Citigroup fell $1.12 to $25.39. In bondland, both the yield on the 30-year bond and the 10-year note hit new record lows with the long bond up over a full point and a half to yield 2.53% and the benchmark note gained 30/32 to yield 1.46%.
