

Keisha (00:00):

It's Keisha.

James (00:01):

Hey, Keisha,

Keisha (00:02):

How are you?

James (00:02):

Oh, I'm I got a really bad head. Cold. I it's important to go on vacation and then get sick.

Keisha (00:07):

It's that always works. Isn't it? When you're gonna just like, relax and have fun, and then it's like, just kidding.

James (00:14):

It's true. Let's hear today's adventures and dating with Keisha what you got. All

Keisha (00:20):

Right. So like I said, I enjoy, um, or I try to, when I make a conversation with somebody, um, I try to engage with them on something I see in their profile or in their pictures. And this guy had pictures of like every picture with him, with his dogs. So I said, hi, I like your dogs. What are their names? And he replied back. He said, thanks. They're called ham and cheese. I need a woman in my life to sit on the other side of my couch with, with the dogs in between us. We can have ham and cheese sandwiches.

James (00:51):

Oh.

Keisha (00:53):

I was like, oh my gosh. That is so sweet. That is so cute. And also like made me wanna continue talking to him. Right. Because it wasn't like, it wasn't like dirty. Right. It wasn't like I'm gonna be rude now. And so, yeah. So we talked for, I, I remember this guy, we talked for a couple more weeks and then he just stopped talking to me and I was like, all right. But

James (01:20):

Man, and he had such a good opening.

Keisha (01:22):

Right. And I mean, that's, I, I like that. I wanna engage with somebody who is creative like that when they're talking to, when they're talking to me,

James (01:31):

But you know what, that was it, he, he, that was his whole thing. That's all he had was that one great line. And it wasn't even a pickup line because you asked him about it.

Keisha (01:42):

Right. It wasn't. And like I said, I mean, I enjoyed it a lot.

James (01:47):

Uh, now I, I, I officially have to ask you then, um, what are some more of the things that don't work?

Keisha (01:54):

What are things that don't work? Um, I don't like, well, I get this a lot, but I get people that are very much asking nude pictures right away. Um, how do

James (02:06):

They get the guts?

Keisha (02:08):

I don't know. And I, it must work otherwise. Why do they continue to, you know, ask people for it? Like somebody has to be giving them this, what they want?

James (02:17):

Well, it could be they're work. The odds 99% will say no. And that 1%, Hey, I got some boobs, but I just, I don't, you know, it's like the, I think, I think that would qualify as the audacity.

Keisha (02:30):

Yeah. And I don't like men that are rude. Um, there's been a few times, I have some stories about trolling, some people, um, that I can share down the road, um, about men who just have these very unrealistic expectations on their dating profiles. Um, and I'm just like, okay, this person's gonna be just a jerk. You can tell right away by what their expectations are on their dating profile. Um, cuz they want somebody that's gonna be like essentially catered their every need. And it's like, I'm sorry, but I have a life too.

James (03:08):

You are a woman here. You were for crying out loud.

Keisha (03:12):

Right. Um, so there are times where I just enjoy trolling people that I think are or disrespectful on, um, on their messages. Um, I get people that I had one dude like last week, he just, I just said like, I was like, Hey, and I asked him a question about something on his profile. And then he just decided that he wasn't gonna have any conversation with me. So he just like, it's called terminating contact. But then like the dating app tells you that they terminated contact. And I was like, okay, well that doesn't make me feel any better.

James (03:47):

Right.

Keisha (03:50):

Um, I was like, if, if you know, if they just deleted the message from my inbox, I would've never been the wiser. I don't like keep track of the names of everybody I talk to. Right. I'm like, oh, like I send a message to this person and now they're not in my inbox. Like, no, I don't remember that. The only people I remember are the ones that I engage in, like, uh, an actual conversation with,

James (04:14):

You know, to the best of my knowledge. I've never ghosted anyone I've been ghosted and it it's, it was I and actually in a relationship and they just disappeared. It's like, you can break up with me. It's okay. Um, but I, I kind of, I've learned sometimes you can say, Nope, all I wanna do is be friends and they are, what they're hearing is, oh, you wanna be with me? So yeah. You know, it, it, I think maybe if, if I, by when you message back and forth to people, maybe it sticks a little more cuz in person, well, I did it here on the air. Uh, we, uh, gal met me for coffee and we chatted and she was pretty sure that things were great. And I had said, well, do you remember the part where I said, nah, I think we can just be friends. And she's like, I don't. Oh no. That's how powerful my personality is.

Keisha (04:59):

Yeah. No, I mean, mean I, I would prefer if somebody was honest with me, like if you're not feeling me, like, okay, just tell me, like don't just straight up ghost me. Yeah. Um, you know, I, I have a thick skin. I'm not gonna be, you know, I've spent years in customer service and as a, you know, a refer at sporting events, um, you know, I, I, it takes a lot. Me just tell me that you don't, that you're not interested.

James (05:24):

Yeah. I was like, Hey, bring it Karen, if you think you're gonna hurt me that bad, I want to hear it. Come on.

Keisha (05:29):

Right. Right. Like, I'm sorry, Joe. But like, I'd rather you tell me, Hey, I'm not feeling this. Or, Hey, I met somebody else, you know, or whatever like that. I've been talking to online that I'm feeling more than you. Like, I'll be like, all right, cool.

James (05:42):

That's a hundred percent legit. And a, and it makes no sense to do anything else. Do they really think they're that important that telling you I'm not that into it is gonna destroy you for crying out loud. Right. Adjust the egos dudes.

Keisha (05:58):

Right. Well, and I feel like ghosting somebody is not in an adult way to respond to something. I mean, if you just ignore somebody, that's a very childish response.

James (06:07):

Oh yeah. That's why it's bad of me to leave parties. When I just, I just walk away from parties and go home. I should say goodbye to the host. But sometimes, you know, I guess that's and kind of ghosting in my own little issue.

Keisha (06:21):

All right. But Hey, at least you were at the party and you probably talked to the host in some capacity. You didn't just show up and like, be like, Hey, I'm here. Bye.

James (06:28):

Right? Oh no, no, no, no. I usually, I, I did it in Fargo a lot. Cause I live really close to the places of a bunch of my friends and I would hang out, well, you didn't say goodbye. Uh, am I supposed to do being, Hey everyone, I'm leaving now. Good luck having fun. Now

Keisha (06:41):

That's the Minnesota thing to do though. James, you say goodbye for about 20 minutes, you know? No.

James (06:47):

Oh, I can't tape that. It's it's been a bone of contention in some of my relationships. You say goodbye too quickly. We say goodbye. That's the end. Goodbye. That's it. There should be nothing after that. Oh Keisha. You're awesome. I got a cruise.

Keisha (07:02):

I'll talk to you next week.

James (07:03):

You be Keisha. Bye.
