

James (00:00):

Good morning. Good morning. You slept the whole night through. Good morning, Keisha to you.

Keisha (00:05):

Good morning.

James (00:07):

This is a little song I put together for you.

Keisha (00:08):

I liked it. That was beautiful. Thank

James (00:10):

You. So what's on tap for this week.

Keisha (00:12):

This week, I'm gonna talk about men are just like disgustingly aggressive about stuff. Okay. And I, I go back and forth between I'll be on a dating app for a couple of days, and then I'll be off it for a while and then I'll come back to it. Um, this is, um, this is a guy that was talking to me after I had not been on a dating app for a while. So he said, hi. And then I noticed three days later, he said, hello. And then two days later he said, hi, are you getting my messages? You haven't responded yet. So I'm just checking. And four days later. So I, I was out for like a month. I wasn't on it. So four days later, he's like, why are you ignoring me, sweetheart? And then it was right around Christmas time. So then the next day he goes, hi, beautiful. So are you going to take me home for Christmas? I have a nice package. I'd love to show you. Oh, oh, It gets better. Two days later, he said, hello, sweetheart. You haven't answered my messages. Maybe I'm not being aggressive enough. And I got a very inappropriate picture from him.

James (01:13):

No.

Keisha (01:15):

Yeah. Oh, yes. Um, and you'd be amazed. How many, like, I, I don't ask for these pictures and how many men must think that this is what a girl wants, because I'll get all these inappropriate pictures of males of a male region. And it's like, I don't want that. I don't wanna see that. Like, didn't ask you for it. So think like, what do I do with this

James (01:37):

Besides vomit? Right.

Keisha (01:39):

I block him, but you know, I get, I get a lot to those. I mean, I think most, a lot of women online dating get messages like that, men like that constantly,

James (01:49):

You are not allowed in the dating pool anymore out.

Keisha (01:53):

Right. And I was like, it must work cuz some somewhere down the line because men wouldn't keep doing it. If it didn't work. Right. Like,

James (02:00):

Well, that's what I think. And I think how can it work? How, how unhappy can people be that they are willing to accept that kind of trash.

Keisha (02:08):

Right?

James (02:08):

I mean, I'm sorry. I'm sorry. Dough. Head trash is not a nice word to use a dough head.

Keisha (02:12):

It's okay. Yeah. Um, yeah. It's like, you know, I didn't ask you to send me a nude picture of you and like I'm just very uncomfortable now, do you think that that's gonna make me wanna talk to you? Like it's gonna make me less likely to wanna talk to you.

James (02:28):

It's almost like he, he has a right to your response.

Keisha (02:31):

Right. And the thing is like, you can go in and you can like, usually on most dating apps, like you can see the last time somebody's been on the dating, like on that dating app. It's like he could have easily gone in and been like, oh, she hasn't responded to me. I'm gonna see the last time she was on. If he really, really wanted to make that much of an effort to talk to me, then like, oh, she hasn't been on in like a month. Maybe that's why she hasn't talked to

James (02:50):

Me. But instead of thinking all that through the guy just thinks, eh, I'm gonna send a

Keisha (02:54):

Right. Exactly. Women don't like that. Men.

James (02:57):

No, they, they it's like a universal thing unless they have a little special file folder in their phone for joke night.

Keisha (03:04):

Right. Well, and like part of me is like, do you just, yeah, like, do you just like sit around and take pictures of your like yes. Stuff. Like, that's just

James (03:11):

Weird. Maybe they search for someone else's and, and

Keisha (03:14):

That's true. That's still weird though. Like, I mean, no matter what, it's still weird. Like I don't want, I don't care who it is. Like I don't want that.

James (03:22):

There was, uh, the reason I don't always keep my airdrop on is I was once out in Byron at a restaurant having a good time, a restaurant bar, great place and someone airdropped me, uh, topless picture.

Keisha (03:34):

Yikes.

James (03:34):

And it's like, I, I did not ask for this and Yik, I, I, I, I certainly have nothing against the female body, but I did not ask for this. I don't want this. And right. What, what's your next step? You're gonna come and say, hi, those are mine and

Keisha (03:49):

What, right. Exactly. Like that's just weird. It, yeah. I mean, it goes both ways in the dating pool, but like, I don't think that that's an aggressive way to like, be like, oh, I'm gonna send them this picture and they're gonna be like, oh my gosh, that's a amazing, now I'm gonna talk to you. No, thank you.

James (04:02):

Well, and, and it does go both ways, but let's not kid ourselves. It's 99% men being gross. And 1% of women being slightly aggressive, but usually there's no major aggression to go with it. Whereas guys, they come with that and they come with it and like buckets.

Keisha (04:17):

Right. I feel like it's like an ego thing. Like they want us to like, they want the girl to like stroke their you and be like, oh, that looks so good.

James (04:24):

I think it's just gross. And if you are a guy listening to this show, I'm sure you're probably a better guy than that, but please pass it along to your friends that that's gross. Yeah.

Keisha (04:31):

Women don't want that. That's not how you get a woman on a dating app then.

James (04:35):

And if you need to find a way to get your guys to listen to you saying that your buddy's saying that, say that women actually share them as jokes

Keisha (04:42):

I've sent back, um, like a rating, I'll be like three out of 10. Right?

James (04:46):

Right. Yeah.

Keisha (04:47):

I know people that will like find their mom on like Facebook and like send like screenshot the like picture and send it to their mom and be like, just so you're aware, your son is doing this. This is what you raised. Right. Maybe it takes mom to tell their kid women don't like that.

James (05:01):

It's not the most beautiful part of a person's body women. Right. Work of art men utilitarian.

Keisha (05:08):

Right.
